The Tivoli club had its annual Christmas party Friday night at Kellam hall. The girls were smartly gowned in their new holiday frocks, and a large number of the fashionable set attended.

Among the pretty gowns that attracted special attention was a dress worn by Miss Louise Jacobs, of Cincinnati, Ohio, who is spending the winter in Topeka and being asked to the season's parties. She wore a yellow tulle gown combined with lace and big orange bouquet of yellow roses and a pretty rose colored costume of chiffon and silk, made with short waist outlined by a wide silver band. Miss Jean Lindsay wore rose colored chiffon with scalloped edges and accented pleated flounce, draped with lace. Miss Mary Samson wore a pretty gown of baby blue combined with white lace. Miss Mary Paxton's gown was of white accented pleated silk with trimming of white lace. Miss Clyde Bonebrake wore a gown of white silk, with the skirt made with a series of shirring from the waist to the hem.

Miss Nell Kouns wore a striking costume of black and white. The bodice was of black velvet, and the skirt of white silk. Her slippers and stockings were rose colored. Miss Helen Louise Crosby wore a gown of white and blue. Miss Altha Watson wore one of the fashionable new frocks copied after the styles of a generation ago. The gown was of white, striped silk, made over trilline, a silver cloth. The bodice was made with the drop shoulders, and the skirt was made with the old time bustle and panther effect.

Miss Beth Thompson wore green chiffon trimmed with silver. Miss Margaret Kountz was gowned in blue. The skirt was of blue velvet, made with puffs, and the bodice of blue chiffon, with long chiffon sleeves.

Miss Dorothy Sproat's gown was white, combined with pink chiffon. Miss Helen Spielman wore yellow tulle, draped with gold net, and worn with a giraffe of rose color. Miss Edna Mower wore baby blue messaline, made with short waist, with straps and bows of blue tulle on the shoulders. The wide flaring skirt was made with a puff of silk around the bottom.

NORTH TOPEKA

Everything Closed Except Drug Stores and Railroad Tracks.

Christmas Is Celebrated in the Homes and Churches.

North Topeka is enveloped in the spirit of Christmas. Excepting for the visitors who are coming into the city through the Union Pacific station, the worshippers at the churches and the few belated shoppers who scurried about in a vain effort to locate a merchant whose wares were for sale all activity was suspended today.

The only North side merchants to open their doors this morning are the druggists. Pharmacies were open until noon. They then closed until 6 o'clock this evening.

The postoffice was open until 10 o'clock and the force there battled with an accumulation of Christmas mail that filled all available space behind the wickets.

Housewives who forgot ingredients for their Christmas dinners had to call on their neighbors. Every grocery on North Kansas avenue was closed throughout the day. Grocery men nounced early this week that their places would not be open today but the closing hour during the past four evenings was stretched from 6 o'clock to 9 for the convenience of patrons.

Special Church Services. Special services were held today at the Church of the Good Shepherd. Services will also be held in the church next Tuesday and on New Year's day. The feast of St. Stephen, protomartyr, will be held Sunday. Tuesday will be Holy Innocents day. The feast of the circumcision will be held with prayer service at 9 o'clock on New Year's morning.

Special music including the "Hallelujah chorus" from the Messiah will be sung by the choir of forty voices at the North Baptist church Sunday. At the evening service the choir will give the cantata "The Light Eternal." Solos will be taken by Miss Florence Rowe, soprano; Miss Eleanor Caldwell, alto; Dean Van Ness, tenor, and Paul Van Ness, baritone.

The same cantata will be presented at the Kansas Avenue Methodist church Sunday morning by the combined choir of the Kansas Avenue and Walnut Grove churches.

Christmas entertainments were given last night in the Second Presbyterian church and the Central Avenue Christian. In both children from the various Sunday school classes abounded the bulk of the entertainment.

Observance of Christmas in North Topeka this year is unostentatious. Few dinners are being taken away from home or the home of a member of the families—numerous family dinners being served today.

Greetings

Members of the Police Force Join in a Christmas Remembrance to Harvey Parsons.

The telephone in the home of Harvey Parsons jingled. The chief himself answered. "Say, you're wanted down here and wanted bad," roared the voice of Frank Parcells, jailer. "The car's on its way after you." It was dinner time and Parsons deserted a tempting table under the impression that nothing less than a bank robbery or a hurried explosion was the cause of the bomb call.

Every man on the force was at the police station. Parsons was promptly grabbed and yanked into the court room where Judge R. N. Yates was on the bench.

The "gang" followed. "You're charged with insubordination, fraud, incompetency, corruption and a few other things," began Judge Yates. Other than that you are all right. But the police force has been watching you and your methods for some time. You have reached the point where you are being investigated by your own men."

"Huh?" said Parsons. "Charge No. 1 is that you are working only eighteen hours a day when there are twenty-four in a day. You have run all the crooks out of this town and brought nothing to the head where there is so little crime that the public is liable to demand that half the boys be fired because the town is so peaceful."

At the end of the charges, Judge Yates handed Parsons a package. The chief unwrapped it and a gold watch his Christmas present from the "boys"—was therein.
